Compensation Principles

Fair Compensation

Stanley Black & Decker is committed to a total compensation program that is competitive with practices in our industry. Our objective is to improve the link between our compensation programs and the overall success of the company by leveraging and reflecting our performance based culture and values linked to our company purpose.

Our compensation is designed to:

- Reinforce Stanley Black & Decker's Operating Model and HR Strategy with people at the centre.
- Motivate and reward the demonstration of the Company's organisational values and performance.
- Enable Stanley Black & Decker to attract, engage and retain the right talent through competitive compensation levels and programs.
- Our compensation plans are intended to be fair and equitable, supporting our inclusive and collaborative culture.

"Recruiting, retaining and nurturing the best talent is paramount to the achievement of our company's vision. We seek to provide fair compensation, reward performance and celebrate achievement while ensuring our people's goals, development and learning are aligned with the company's growth objectives and our Purpose and Values."

Equal Pay and Non-Discrimination

Stanley Black & Decker is committed to the principle of equal opportunities and equal treatment for all employees, regardless of sex, race, religion or religious practice, age, marital status or civil partnership, pregnancy/maternity, sexual orientation, gender reassignment or disability. These principles are actively applied to all business aspects of the company, including Compensation. We proactively promote Equal Pay System, diversity & inclusion and take measures against the Gender Pay Gap. The Company has a clear policy of paying employees equally for the same or equivalent work, regardless of their sex (or any other characteristic set out above). As such, it:

- Carries out an annual audit during the annual merit process to identify gaps and to adjust to market value.
- Evaluates position roles as necessary to ensure a fair structure.
- Invests in training and reviews to remove bias from pay and promotion decisions

Actions to Address the Pay Gap

While our gender pay gap is currently broadly in line with the UK economy as a whole, it is a subject which the Company is not complacent about, and it is committed to taking action to reduce. Below are some of the measures already in place as well as some of the areas the Company will focus on over the next few years to continue its focus to consistently reduce the gender pay gap over time.

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion

As part of its Diversity, Equity & Inclusion agenda, the company has appointed a Chief Diversity Officer and instrumental to the global strategy is the focus on Employee Resource Groups (ERGs). Today we see the Women's Network Employee Resource Group is well established across business units and countries. The purpose of these networks is to provide women across the Organisation an environment where they are empowered to pursue career advancement opportunities, achieve leadership positions, and have access to resources to support their professional development. This is strongly supported by our Chief Executive Officer, Jim Loree. As part of our commitment to DEI the following actions have been put in place:

- Chief Diversity Officer has been appointed to lead our holistic diversity, equity and inclusion strategy.
- A Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Director for Europe (EMEA ANZ) has been appointed to tackle a more bespoke approach to Equity and inclusion in the region.
- A commitment to more inclusive hiring process including training for managers and ensuring a diverse pool of candidates for every role, see below.
- The provision of the Gender Pay Gap reporting, for increased transparency and better understanding across all European countries.
- The launch of the new Code of Business Ethics and Integrity@SBD, our global reporting platform to anonymously report concerns in local language, online, by phone or via text messaging.
- The roll-out of the Unconscious Bias training to all associates, with specific Manager and HR Training, to raise awareness and mitigate bias from decision making and talent processes.

Recruitment and Selection

The Company continues to review its recruitment procedures along with career development opportunities. The Company is particularly keen to attract and recruit more female technicians, project managers and sales representatives as well as female managers. The company aims to attract more females to its apprenticeship scheme by shifting from a traditional engineering background, which attracts more males to a more IT focused skills set, which attracts a more diverse pool of apprentices.

Actions to Address the Pay Gap

Recruitment and Selection (Cont'd)

Currently, encouraging females of any age or experience into the Industrial sector is a challenge. The Company continues to review how it sources candidates, we have established a Talent Acquisition Centre of Excellence and appointed regional Talent Acquisition Partners. We are actively moving away from third party agencies, which is yielding greater focus, flexibility and balance of female candidates as well as using social media, and will continue to drive a practice of having diverse interview panels, with both male and female interviewers. A key initiative for this year is to evolve our employer brand and communications to appeal to more diverse candidates. In addition, we will focus on demonstrating a viable career path within the Industrial Sector irrespective of gender. To support this, we also need to increase the representation of women in senior roles. The Company will continue to explore working with Universities and Schools to raise the profile of the Industrial industry and what it has to offer to women. In addition, we believe our approach to flexible working will help to attract more women into the organisation as well as support those looking to advance their career.

Stanley Black & Decker has rolled out training for Line Managers and Senior Managers on unconscious bias when recruiting and promoting employees into roles within the business.

The Company is reviewing job descriptions and adjusting language used to be more inclusive and gender neutral. We have also set ourselves targets to increase the number of women in the number of applicants and hires.

Target

Globally we have committed to having 50/50 Men and Women in leadership positions by 2030 and ensuring compliance with our obligations under the Equality Act 2010 around positive action.

Reviewing family friendly and flexible working policies

Stanley Black & Decker is committed to offering all employees regardless of role or seniority the opportunity to be considered for flexible working arrangements on application. The Company wants to offer the right working environment to allow all employees the opportunity to have a successful career regardless of working pattern. The Company has also set up a working Parents Employee Resource Group, to further support the needs of working parents and in particular women who we know are juggling home and work. As mentioned above the company has also developed a more flexible approach for employees to managing work through work patterns and location.

Actions to Address the Pay Gap

Closing Notes

- None of these initiatives will, in themselves, remove the gender pay gap and the Company recognises it may be several years before some have any impact at all.
- In the meantime, Stanley Black & Decker is committed to reporting on an annual basis on what it is doing to reduce the gender pay gap and the progress that the Company is making. We recognise there is a gap, which we are taking very seriously and are committed to reduce this over the next few years through the positive initiatives outlined above.
- Any further initiatives launched throughout the year will be reported in next year's report.

Pay Gap Comparison to other Organisations

The vast majority of organisations have a gender pay gap. The median pay gap for the whole UK economy in (according to the Office of National Statistics (ONS)) is 15.4%. For Stanley Black & Decker UK Ltd the median gender pay gap is 20.57%.

Stanley Black & Decker UK Ltd faced very challenging economic conditions during 2021 due to the COVID pandemic which has impacted on some of the numbers being reported. This is primarily due to a proportion of the workforce being on furlough during this period. The economic climate also impacted on the number of positions that were recruited into the business, which limited our opportunity to increase our female talent pipeline for more senior and well-paid positions this year.
